Frankie Foster Brought Back to Chicago Today

FORMER OWNER OF THE GUN THAT KILLED LINGLE

TO BE ARRAIGNED ON INDICTMENT CHARGING HIM WITH LINGLE MURDER

TAKEN FROM TRAIN TO ELUDE ANY GANGSTERS WAITING TO "RESCUE" HIM

Chicago, July 19.—(U.P.)—Frankie Foster, former owner of the gun that killed Alfred J. Lingle, was brought back to Chicago in manacles today to be arraigned on an indictment charging him with the Lingle murder.

Foster was taken off the crack Santa Fe train, The Chief, when it stopped at the station at Thirty-First Street and Western Avenue, thus eluding whatever gangsters may have been waiting to "rescue" him.

The two police officers who brought Foster back from Los Angeles, said they had experienced no trouble en route. They were met at the outlying stations by a squad of police who escorted Foster to the criminal courts building.

There the only man thus far indicted in the murder which caused such a sensation in Chicago's journalistic circles was taken into the offices of State's Attorney John A. Swanson where he was questioned by Pat Roche, chief investigator for Swanson.

Foster's wife was said to have left the train at Joliet.

Later Foster was spirited away in an automobile and it was believed that the authorities had taken him to some secret office for further questioning. Under the law as a prisoner indicted on charges of murder he would have to be placed in a cell at the county jail by sundown.

St. Louis, July 19.—Harry T. Brundage, reporter of the St. Louis Star, today replied to a statement by Al Capone, Chicago gang leader, that Brundage's interview with him, published yesterday, was "faked."

In the copyright interview, Capone was quoted as telling Brundage at the Miami estate of the gang leader, that "plenty" newspapermen were on his payroll and Chicago police knew who killed Alfred Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter.

Brundage said the interview with Al Capone was correct as published. "It was correct when I quoted Mr. Capone as stating he would deny my interview if I published the following: 'Let me give you a hot tip; lay off Chicago and the money hungry reporters.'"

"You're right and because you're right, you're wrong."

"You can't buck it, not even with the backing of your newspaper, because it is too big a proposition."

"No one man will ever realize just how big it is, so lay off."

"You mean—"

"I mean they'll make a monkey out of you before you get through. No matter what dope you have to give that grand jury, the boys will prove you're a liar and a faker. You'll get a trimming."

"I am going to quote you as saying that."

"If you do, I'll deny it."

"I note in Mr. Capone's denial," Brundage said, "that I was with him only ten minutes. I arrived at the Capone villa at about 9:45 P. M. and waited until 10, when the gang chief-tain appeared. I was with him from then until about one o'clock in the morning. If that seemed like ten minutes to Al, I am highly complimented."

Brundage is to appear before a Cook county grand jury in Chicago Tuesday for questioning in regard to charges he made in a series of articles that racketeering existed among some Chicago newspapermen.

Death Toll Mounting Rapidly as Typhoon Spreads Devastation in Korea and Japan

100 PERSONS MEET DEATH IN RAVAGES

GALE HAS NOW ADVANCED TO THE VICINITY OF VLADIVOSTOK

SCORES OF PERSONS REPORTED MISSING, PROPERTY DAMAGE HEAVY

Shimonoseki, Yamaguchi, July 19.—(U.P.)—The death toll was mounting rapidly as the typhoon that yesterday struck Korea and the island of Kyushu, south of here, continued to devastate the countryside.

The typhoon, which already has killed more than 100 persons, was reported to have arrived in the vicinity of Vladivostok. Scores were reported missing and property damage was estimated at many thousands in Kyushu, one of the principal islands of Japan, and Korea.

Four steamers had not reported and it was feared they were lost. Many smaller fishing crafts were sunk and their crews drowned.

The typhoon which started south of Kyushu and was today sweeping up the North Sea, has left a wide swath of wreckage in its wake both to crops and buildings.

Relief organizations were assembling rescue forces and sending help to the cities of Kagoshima, Sasebo, Nagasaki, Tashukima and other points on Kyushu.

Find Body of Air Mail Pilot

The search for Maurice Graham, Western Air Express mail pilot, who has been missing since January 10, ended July 17 when his body was found near Cedar City, Utah, six miles from where his wrecked plane was discovered late in June.

SCATTER ASHES OF MAURY GRAHAM

Los Angeles, July 19.—(U.P.)—The ashes of Maury Graham were scattered today over the mountains where he died.

A little urn containing the remains of Graham's body was entrusted late last night to Fred Kelley, Graham's best friend and fellow air mail pilot, as Kelley took off on the regular run between here and Salt Lake City.

It was Graham's last ride over the air mail route he traveled so many times and over the mountains he loved so well. In the early morning hours, somewhere far up over the mountain tops, Kelley opened the urn and scattered the ashes to the winds.

Colon, C. Z., July 19.—(U.P.)—Challengers for the world's beer drinking championship today were invited to present themselves to Donald Stephens, who was recuperating in a local hospital after winning his laurels.

Stephens, an American citizen of Colon, collapsed after he had gulped down the 17th 16-ounce glass of beer, some five quarts of the liquid. He was removed to the hospital in an unconscious state, but claimed a new record as soon as he had recovered consciousness.

Stephens was able to sit up in bed today.

GREAT RUM FLEET DIRECTED BY SHORE RADIO

DISCLOSED BY THE ARREST OF 7 MEN, SEIZURE OF 4 RADIO STATIONS

IN THE FASHIONABLE LONG ISLAND DISTRICT NEAR NEW YORK

New York, July 19.—(U.P.)—Presence of a great rum fleet operating along the Atlantic seaboard under direction of powerful shore radio stations was disclosed today by arrest of seven men and seizure of four radio stations in the fashionable Long Island district.

Officials revealed that a raid last night conducted by between 25 and 50 agents was but the start of a campaign against radio stations which direct maneuvers of the rum fleet. There may be 90 such radio stations, it was said.

"The seizure of the four stations on Long Island is only the start of a campaign by the United States radio inspectors working in co-operation with the department of justice and the treasury agents to stamp out a gigantic rum ring operating all along the Atlantic coast," R. A. M. Bachelor, United States supervisor of radio for this district, said.

"We believe there are more than 90 illicit radio sets in operation, directing rum ships into safe harbors on Long Island and New Jersey."

He indicated the rum ring broken last year off New Jersey—when a powerful radio station was seized—might still be operating in that district.

The night raids and subsequent developments had all the thrills and ramifications of a mystery novel.

The agents gathered in fashionable Southampton, Hampton Bays, Mattituck and Quogue. They arrested the seven men, seized maps, charts and code and dismantled the $3,000 radio sets. These sets were short wave transmitters which easily could have sent and received messages to and from Europe.

TOW-HEADED FARMER BOY IN CONFESSION

LESTER MOHR, 14, OF HOLSTEIN, IOWA, BEAT MOTHER TO DEATH WITH POKER

BODY OF MRS. GUS MOHR FOUND IN BLOOD-SPATTERED KITCHEN

Holstein, Iowa, July 19.—(U.P.)—A tow-headed farmer lad of 14 faced murder charges today in connection with the death of his own mother.

Lester Mohr withstood for several hours yesterday the questioning of county and state officers and then, County Attorney George Clark, Jr., said, the boy confessed he brutally beat his mother and then shot her.

The body of the mother, Mrs. Gus Mohr, was found in the blood-spattered kitchen of their quiet farm home on Thursday night.

According to the purported confession the boy admitted he had been drinking, said he became enraged and with a stove poker beat his mother over the head. So violent was the beating that Mrs. Mohr's skull was fractured and blood spurted on the shade trees in the yard.

The mother ran from her liquor-crazed son, the confession said, into the kitchen and latched the screen door. But Lester procured a shotgun, fired it through the screen, striking his mother in the breast, and then entered the house through another door. Goaded on by his boyish rage he obtained the family rifle and further mutilated his mother's body by shooting her through the head.

GERMANY UNDER A DICTATORSHIP

LOOKS TO GENERAL ELECTIONS TO RECTIFY PARLIAMETARY UNWIELDINESS

Berlin, July 19.—(U.P.)—Germany, under a dictatorship, looked forward today to the Sept. 14 general elections as a chance to rectify the parliamentary unwieldiness which prevented the government from obtaining majorities on its financial measures and forced the dissolution of the Reichstag.

It appeared today that an intensive campaign would be waged by all parties, and that some of them undoubtedly would dwindle considerably in the new Reichstag, if they did not disappear altogether.

The conservative parties will appeal to the electorate to choose a Reichstag that will give President Paul von Hindenburg and future cabinets a sufficient majority for a "safe and sane" policy in Germany.

The more extreme parties, such as the communists and fascists, hoped that the elections would serve to their advantage by pulling them up from low representation in the Reichstag to positions of comparative strength.

HUNTER BROTHERS HOPE OFF FROM ST. LOUIS TO TULSA

St. Louis, Mo., July 19.—(U.P.)—The Hunter brothers, John and Kenneth, holders of the world's record for sustained airplane flight, hopped off here at 8:45 a. m. today for Tulsa, Okla., first stop on their cross country flight to California.

John and Kenneth, accompanied by their manager and two brothers, are en route to Hollywood.

They expected to reach Tulsa at noon and continue their westward journey after refueling. Three planes are in the party.

DISCUSS COOPERATION IN SANITARY WORK

Washington, July 19.—(U.P.)—President Hoover called a conference today of boards of health of seven states in the Mississippi flood area to discuss cooperation in sanitary work due to the failure of congress to appropriate funds for that purpose.

The conference is to be held here within the next few weeks. Invitations will be sent by Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming immediately.

Death Toll Mounting Rapidly as Typhoon Spreads Devastation in Korea and Japan

100 PERSONS MEET DEATH IN RAVAGES

GALE HAS NOW ADVANCED TO THE VICINITY OF VLADIVOSTOK

SCORES OF PERSONS REPORTED MISSING, PROPERTY DAMAGE HEAVY

Shimonoseki, Yamaguchi, July 19.—(U.P.)—The death toll was mounting rapidly as the typhoon that yesterday struck Korea and the island of Kyushu, south of here, continued to devastate the countryside.

The typhoon, which already has killed more than 100 persons, was reported to have arrived in the vicinity of Vladivostok. Scores were reported missing and property damage was estimated at many thousands in Kyushu, one of the principal islands of Japan, and Korea.

Four steamers had not reported and it was feared they were lost. Many smaller fishing crafts were sunk and their crews drowned.

The typhoon which started south of Kyushu and was today sweeping up the North Sea, has left a wide swath of wreckage in its wake both to crops and buildings.

Relief organizations were assembling rescue forces and sending help to the cities of Kagoshima, Sasebo, Nagasaki, Teshukima and other points on Kyushu.

Rorvig was driving with his three daughters and two nieces on a highway nine miles northeast of here. His machine crashed into that driven by Soberg who was on his way to Chicago with his wife and mother.

None were seriously hurt except Rorvig who died two hours later at the hospital. His daughters and nieces and Soberg and his wife are recovering from minor cuts and bruises.

Find Body of Air Mail Pilot

The search for Maurice Graham, Western Air Express mail pilot, who has been missing since January 10, ended July 17 when his body was found near Cedar City, Utah, six miles from where his wrecked plane was discovered late in June.

SCATTER ASHES OF MAURY GRAHAM

Los Angeles, July 19.—(U.P.)—The ashes of Maury Graham were scattered today over the mountains where he died.

A little urn containing the remains of Graham's body was entrusted late last night to Fred Kelley, Graham's best friend and fellow air mail pilot, as Kelley took off on the regular run between here and Salt Lake City.

It was Graham's last ride over the air mail route he traveled so many times and over the mountains he loved so well. In the early morning hours, somewhere far up over the mountain tops, Kelley opened the urn and scattered the ashes to the winds.

Colon, C. Z., July 19.—(U.P.)—Challengers for the world's beer drinking championship today were invited to present themselves to Donald Stephens, who was recuperating in a local hospital after winning his laurels.

Stephens, an American citizen of Colon, collapsed after he had gulped down the 17th 10-ounce glass of beer, some five quarts of the liquid. He was removed to the hospital in an unconscious state, but claimed a new record as soon as he had recovered consciousness.

Stephens was able to sit up in bed today.

GREAT RUM FLEET DIRECTED BY SHORE RADIO

DISCLOSED BY THE ARREST OF 7 MEN, SEIZURE OF 4 RADIO STATIONS

IN THE FASHIONABLE LONG ISLAND DISTRICT NEAR NEW YORK

New York, July 19.—(U.P.)—Presence of a great rum fleet operating along the Atlantic seaboard under direction of powerful shore radio stations was disclosed today by arrest of seven men and seizure of four radio stations in the fashionable Long Island district.

Officials revealed that a raid last night conducted by between 25 and 50 agents was but the start of a campaign against radio stations which direct maneuvers of the rum fleet. There may be 90 such radio stations, it was said.

"The seizure of the four stations on Long Island is only the start of a campaign by the United States radio inspectors working in co-operation with the department of justice and the treasury agents to stamp out a gigantic rum ring operating all along the Atlantic coast," R. A. M. Bachelor, United States supervisor of radio for this district, said.

"We believe there are more than 90 illicit radio sets in operation, directing rum ships into safe harbors on Long Island and New Jersey."

He indicated the rum ring broken last year off New Jersey—when a powerful radio station was seized—might still be operating in that district.

The night raids and subsequent developments had all the thrills and ramifications of a mystery novel. The agents gathered in fashionable Southampton, Hampton Bays, Mattituck and Quogue. They arrested the seven men, seized maps, charts and code and dismantled the $3,000 radio sets. These sets were short wave transmitters which easily could have sent and received messages to and from Europe.

STATE'S CORN CROP IS MUCH IMPROVED

St. Paul, July 19.—(U.P.)—Minnesota's corn crop has improved wonderfully during the first half of July, the Minnesota cooperative reporting service said today.

Improvement of the corn crop was the outstanding feature of the two weeks, it was reported. Late flax, potatoes and corn would be greatly benefited by good rains followed by moderate weather, the survey said.

Pastures are quite short and immediate rains are needed to prevent sharp reduction of pasturage in west central Minnesota, they reported.

BABY IS RESCUED FROM ASH PILE IN ST. PAUL ALLEY

St. Paul, July 19.—(U.P.)—Only three hours old, a baby boy was rescued today from a pile of ashes in a St. Paul alley after its feeble cries had been heard by Rudolph Becker, 13. Hospital officials said the baby had a good chance for life. No identification marks were found. The warm early morning temperature was credited with saving the child's life.

YACHTING PARTY ENDS IN TRAGEDY, GIRL IS DROWNED

YACHT COLLIDES WITH RACING YAWL ON LAKE MICHIGAN NEAR CHICAGO

IMPACT OF COLLISION THROWS ELIZABETH AYRES, 18, INTO THE WATER

Chicago, July 19.—(U.P.)—A yachting party given by a millionaire's children who rode out onto Lake Michigan to escape the heat ended in tragedy late last night when the boat collided with a racing yawl, sinking both and resulting in the death of an 18-year-old girl.

The girl, Miss Elizabeth Ayres, was seated in the bow of the speedboat Whoopee when it rammed the yawl Scarab, owned by George Pulver, of Washington, D. C., and on its way to participate in the yacht races at Mackinac Island. The impact tossed her from the smaller boat and her head struck the side of the Scarab. She sank immediately. Evanston coast guards recovered Miss Ayres' body today. It bore a wound on the head, which physicians said probably caused death.

Benjamin Marshall, Jr., 21, son of a millionaire architect and host on the boating party, was seriously injured when he dived from the sinking Whoopee in an effort to rescue the girl. He struck his head on the Scarab's hull. Marshall, four other companions aboard the Whoopee and four men aboard the Scarab were rescued by a passing craft before their boats sank.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT NANAIMO

SWEEPS THREE BLOCKS OF THE BRITISH COLUMBIA TOWN ON VANCOUVER ISLAND

Vancouver, B. C., July 19.—(U.P.)—A disastrous fire today swept three blocks of the town of Nanaimo, located on Vancouver Island, according to reports received here.

First estimates placed the loss at approximately $1,000,000, although it was believed it might go higher.

No details were available as power and communication lines went out shortly after the fire raged through the business section of the small mining town.

CONFUSED STATE POLITICAL SITUATION IN NEBRASKA CLEARED

Lincoln, Neb., July 19.—(U.P.)—Two developments regarded as favorable to the primary candidacy of Senator George W. Norris, republican, aided today in clarifying a confused state political situation.

Chief Justice C. A. Goss of the state supreme court last night ruled that the name of a second George W. Norris, grocer's clerk of Broken Bow, could not be included on the republican ballot along with that of the senior senator.

Goss' ruling set aside a decision by Secretary of State Marsh allowing the second Norris a place on the ticket. Goss based his decision on the fact that the grocer's filing papers arrived at the secretary of state's office two days after the legal date for entry into the race.

Senator Gerald P. Nye of the senate primary investigating committee arrived at Broken Bow today to investigate the situation surrounding the grocer's candidacy, which friends of the senator asserted was promoted unfairly to confuse voters. State law would prevent differentiation between the names on the ballot.

Albuquerque, N. M., July 19.—(U.P.)—John MacDonald, now now says he perjured himself at the Mooney-Billings trial was a passenger of the Santa Fe's westbound California Limited which passed through here today. Frank P. Walsh, attorney for Mooney, who was held here overnight on a flight to San Francisco, resumed his trip via Western Air Express.

NO RELIEF IS IN SIGHT BEFORE JULY 21 OR 22

FIRST HEAT WAVE TOOK TOLL OF 150 LIVES, SECOND ONE ADDS SCORE MORE

8 DEATHS CAUSED BY HEAT, 11 DUE TO HOT WEATHER DROWNINGS (By United Press)

The second stifling heat wave of July settled down over the eastern two-thirds of the United States today with no relief in sight before Monday or Tuesday.

Just one week after the first July wave of heat had swept the middle west and took almost 150 lives, the new hot spell added a score more lives to the toll.

Preliminary reports gathered by the United Press from over the nation today listed eight deaths attributable directly to the heat and 11 more caused by hot weather drownings.

Temperatures were soaring again today in virtually all cities east of the Rocky Mountains with the prospect that they would reach yesterday's peak and perhaps surpass it. The west coast and mountain states which have sweltered for six days, began cooling off. Over the week-end, the Chicago weather bureau forecast, the high temperatures will subside in the middle west under scattered thunder showers.

Temperatures in Nebraska, where the mercury reached 100 yesterday were falling slowly today but in St. Louis it was 90 before 9 A. M. and the mercury was rising. In Chicago the mercury hit 90 early and started a climb that the weather bureau said might not end until yesterday's record of 99 is shattered.

Washington reported 91 at 10 A. M. and "getting hotter."

An excessive July heat wave, extending from the eastern coast to the Rocky Mountains and apparently centering in four midwestern states, brought suffering today to millions of people.

On the Pacific coast a six-day heat wave apparently was ending, in the Rocky Mountain regions cool weather prevailed, the extreme south enjoyed a moderate but not unreasonable heat wave, and in the east, southeast and midwest the situation was severe.

The only deaths reported were in the east, principally in Massachusetts, but scores of prostrations were reported in Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Illinois where the wave seemed to center.

The principal crop damage was reported in Illinois, where a long drought and the intense heat of this last week caused corn to shrivel up in the fields. Crop damage also was reported in other north-central states and in Canada.

Washington, July 19.—The intense heat wave which has inflicted its ravages over a large part of the United States this week is due to continue for several days in the east, the weather bureau forecast today.

Showers Tuesday with a break in the heat possibly by Wednesday or Thursday was the best the weather men could offer for the eastern United States.

UTILITY COMPANIES BEING INVESTIGATED

Washington, July 19.—(U.P.)—The federal trade commission has begun an inquiry into an important group of utility operating companies controlled by a large holding company and into two other important operating companies, it announced in its monthly progress report to the senate today on the inquiry it has been conducting by the senate's orders.

The commission did not reveal the names of the companies, but announced public hearings would be held later.

It transmitted to the senate testimony in its recent inquiry into the W. B. Foshay group, Minneapolis, and informed the senate it would transmit the transcript of the National Power and Light company group hearing soon.

'RED' O'BRIEN IS FOUND DEAD IN CELL AT SAN QUENTIN

San Quentin Prison, Calif., July 19.—(U.P.)—William "Red" O'Brien, Oakland bank bandit under sentence to hang Friday, July 25, was found dead in his cell today.

It was assumed the bandit had taken poison. An inquest will be held later in the day, prison authorities said.

Louis Lazarus and George Costello, companions of O'Brien, were executed several months ago. The trio was convicted of the murder of William McFarland, Oakland bank teller who was killed while O'Brien, Costello and Lazarus held up the bank in which he was employed.

OBSERVE 60TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Freeman Married 60 Years Ago in St. Cloud, Celebrate at Gull Lake

The Elder cottage, St. Cloud, on Gull Lake was chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Harrie Freeman of St. Cloud to celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary today.

Two hundred invitations had been issued for the wedding reception beginning at noon and continuing throughout the afternoon and evening. A large number from St. Cloud drove up during the morning and afternoon to extend their congratulations and good wishes. For this evening, an orchestra has been engaged. The guests include people of all ages.

A 50th wedding anniversary is considered by most as something quite unusual, and a 60th wedding anniversary is worthy of more than passing notice.

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman took place in St. Cloud just 60 years ago today.

The Elder cottage on Gull Lake is an ideal place for an occasion of this kind, with its restful and quiet atmosphere which invites everyone to forget their age and worries. No better place could be chosen by the bride and groom of 60 years ago to commemorate this day.

BAPTIST SUMMER TABERNACLE OPEN

To be Used for First Time Tomorrow, at the Early Morning Service

LOCATED 6TH AND OAK

Rev. Edgar A. Vallant Conceived Idea of Using Canvas and Frame

The new Baptist Summer Tabernacle on 6th and Oak streets will be used tomorrow for the first time, with the dedication service taking place at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Rev. Edgar A. Vallant, the director of evangelism for the Minnesota Baptist convention and the acting minister of the First Baptist church of Brainerd, is the man who conceived the idea of using the combination of canvas and frame material for summer church work in Minnesota. He has used a tabernacle like the one erected here in different sections of the state. In city, town and open country with remarkable success.

The First Baptist church here will use this meeting place for all of the meetings of the church, during the period of the rebuilding of their church.

The guest preacher at the tabernacle at both services tomorrow will be the Rev. Robert H. Pratt of Evansville, Ill., who will speak in the morning on "The Ever Present God," and the evening on "Three Christian Imperatives."

H. C. Miller, of St. Louis, Mo., a nephew of Mrs. Henry Graham, of this city, will be the guest soloist at the morning service, and Will Anderson will sing at the dedication service in the evening.

Rev. Edgar A. Vallant will preside at all of the services, during the day.

World Needs Humor
In real life serious things and mere trifles, laughable things and things that cause pain are wont to be mixed up in strangest medley. It is necessary, then, that tragedy as being a mirror of life must leave room for an element of comic humor.—Rev. John Keble (1792-1806). "Lectures on Poetry."

Shallow Grief
People grieve and bemoan themselves, but it is not half so bad with them as they say. There are moods in which we court suffering, in the hope that here at least we shall find reality, sharp peaks and edges of truth. But it turns out to be scene-painting and counterfeit. The only thing grief has taught me is to know how shallow it is.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

"LINDY" TO TALK ON RADIO SOON CHRYSLER PRODUCES TWO LINES OF EIGHTS

Will Make First Prepared Address Over Columbia Network on August 8

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will make his first prepared radio address over the Columbia Broadcasting network, and by trans-Atlantic radio over the British Broadcasting Corporation's network, on August 8.

The address will also be heard by short wave transmission station W2XFI in all parts of the civilized world. In order that foreign listeners may not be inconvenienced Colonel Lindbergh will talk twice, at 4 P. M., and 10 P. M., E. S. T. The first address will be heard on the short wave station W2XFI only and will reach Australia, South Africa, India and other remote areas as well as Europe.

The second address will go over the Columbia chain from key station WABC but will also be broadcast by short wave for listeners in South America, where the time is approximately the same as in North America. In this way it is believed the entire world will be able to listen in on America's best known young man.

Colonel Lindbergh has never talked from a radio studio before, his previous experience with the microphone having been with talks at broadcast public functions. He made his first visit to a broadcasting studio a few days ago when he looked over station WABC at 485 Madison Avenue, New York, and selected one of the smaller studios for his forthcoming talk.

The subject of his address will be "International Aviation" and it is understood he will elaborate the recommendations for promoting international air transport recently made by him at the request of the League of Nations. He will talk about 15 minutes.

TRUNK HIGHWAYS GENERALLY GOOD

Although trunk highways are generally good, many of the routes are beginning to show the effects of heavy summer traffic, according to the weekly road condition report issued by the Minnesota Highway department today. Gravel roads in some parts of the state are becoming dusty and washboarded.

The new grade on T. H. No. 40 from Austin to the state line has been oiled and graveled and opened to traffic.

Oiling and graveled are in progress in a number of places. Motorists are cautioned to drive carefully where there is fresh oil or loose gravel.

BAPTIST SUMMER TABERNACLE OPEN

To be Used for First Time Tomorrow, at the Early Morning Service

LOCATED 6TH AND OAK
Rev. Edgar A. Valiant Conceived Idea of Using Canvas and Frame

The new Baptist Summer Tabernacle on 6th and Oak streets will be used tomorrow for the first time, with the dedication service taking place at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Rev. Edgar A. Valiant, the director of evangelism for the Minnesota Baptist convention and the acting minister of the First Baptist church of Brainerd, is the man who conceived the idea of using the combination of canvas and frame material for summer church work in Minnesota. He has used a tabernacle like the one erected here in different sections of the state, in city, town and open country with remarkable success.

The First Baptist church here will use this meeting place for all of the meetings of the church, during the period of the rebuilding of their church.

The guest preacher at the tabernacle at both services tomorrow will be the Rev. Robert H. Pratt of Evansville, Ill., who will speak in the morning on "The Ever Present God" and the evening on "Three Christian Imperatives."

H. C. Miller, of St. Louis, Mo., a nephew of Mrs. Henry Graham, of this city, will be the guest soloist at the morning service, and Will Anderson will sing at the dedication service in the evening.

Rev. Edgar A. Valiant will preside at all of the services, during the day.

World Needs Humor
In real life serious things and mere trifles, laughable things and things that cause pain are wont to be mixed up in strangest medley. It is necessary, then, that tragedy as being a mirror of life must leave room for an element of comic humor.—Rev. John Keble (1792-1866). "Lectures on Poetry."

Shallow Grief
People grieve and bemoan themselves, but it is not half so bad with them as they say. There are moods in which we court suffering, in the hope that here at least we shall find reality, sharp peaks and edges of truth. But it turns out to be scene-painting and counterfeit. The only thing grief has taught me is to know how shallow it is.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

"LINDY" TO TALK ON RADIO SOON

Will Make First Prepared Address Over Columbia Network on August 8

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will make his first prepared radio address over the Columbia Broadcasting network, and by trans-Atlantic radio over the British Broadcasting Corporation's network, on August 8.

The address will also be heard by short wave transmission station W2XFE in all parts of the civilized world. In order that foreign listeners may not be inconvenienced Colonel Lindbergh will talk twice, at 4 P. M., and 10 P. M., E. D. S. T. The first address will be heard on the short wave station W2XFE only and will reach Australia, South Africa, India and other remote areas as well as Europe.

The second address will go over the Columbia chain from key station WABC but will also be broadcast by short wave for listeners in South America, where the time is approximately the same as in North America. In this way it is believed the entire world will be able to listen in on America's best known young man.

Colonel Lindbergh has never talked from a radio studio before, his previous experience with the microphone having been with talks at broadcast public functions. He made his first visit to a broadcasting studio a few days ago when he looked over station WABC at 485 Madison Avenue, New York, and selected one of the smaller studios for his forthcoming talk.

The subject of his address will be "International Aviation" and it is understood he will elaborate the recommendations for promoting international air transport recently made by him at the request of the League of Nations. He will talk about 15 minutes.

CHRYSLER PRODUCES TWO LINES OF EIGHTS

Represented in New Series of 1931 Motor Cars

Walter P. Chrysler today announces two lines of straight eight-cylinder motor cars—the first eight-cylinder cars ever to bear the Chrysler name—and the proved products of months of engineering development.

In these new cars Chrysler engineers have directed every effort toward designing a car with perfect smoothness, perfect roadability, perfect handling, and a total absence of rocking or rolling through lowered center of gravity, continental smartness, exquisite body appointments, synchronization of engine, of transmission and of brakes—in fact, a perfectly balanced and correlated piece of mechanism.

The two lines have been designated as the Chrysler Eight and the Chrysler Imperial Eight.

Outstanding mechanical features of both lines include the L-head type of straight eight engine with the famous Chrysler Silver Dome cylinder head, the four-speed transmission and gear shift, downdraft carburetor, automatically controlled radiator shutters, two-way hydraulic shock absorbers, four wheel internal expanding hydraulic brakes, completely enclosed, fuel pumps; four point rubber engine mountings; impulse neutralizers; the bonderite rust proofing process on all enameled parts and scores of other refinements. Nothing has been overlooked to give the owner better and more satisfying motor car transportation.

Three Rules for Summer

THREE positive rules for hygiene for the prevention of a possible hot weather epidemic of poliomyelitis, the dread infantile paralysis, in Minnesota this summer are issued in a bulletin from the Minnesota State Medical Association.

They are:

- Keep the children away from all sick people.
- Watch your milk and food supply.
- Wash your hands thoroughly and often and see that the children wash theirs also.

"These are established health rules that apply in the protection from any infectious disease," the bulletin says. "They specifically and powerfully apply in the case of poliomyelitis."

"Protection from poliomyelitis is complicated by the fact that there are many unrecognized, undiagnosed cases that will never develop paralysis," the bulletin says.

"These cases suffer only the fever and general illness of the first few days but they are capable of spreading infection and, as they are not confined to bed, they are far more likely to do so."

"Another complicating circumstance lies in the fact that there are demonstrable polio carriers just as there are diphtheria carriers. The infecting agent of the disease is present in the nose and throat discharges and in the bowel contents of carriers as well as patients. It is spread by these avenues to persons who never actually become ill with the disease."

"These perfectly healthy persons, nurses or parents who have been in contact with it move about the community freely an unrecognized menace and for an indefinite length of time."

"The germ is present in the patient himself, long after the acute fever stage is past. It has been discovered on the crutches of convalescents and it is likely to cling to anything he handles."

Where the Old Cars Go

FOR many years people have been worried as to what to do with the accumulation of old and derelict cars, notably of the flivver variety. In some cities they have been stacked up in unsightly heaps, a problem for the community which desires to keep the surroundings of a city in perfect shape.

Some persons have thought that collections of the abandoned cars be dumped in rivers or oceans. Some have burned vast heaps of the old cars.

Others have said that as the manufacturer was responsible for putting them in the transportation field, he should devise ways and means of painlessly disposing of the cars when their days of usefulness are over.

And now comes Henry Ford himself with a plan. Following the systematic wrecking of more than 1,800 antiquated motor cars, the Ford Motor Company today announced that the salvaging of materials obtained in this manner is practical and that it is now increasing its facilities for continuing the work on a more extensive scale.

At the present time a force of 120 men at the Rouge Plant, Dearborn, dismantles these apparently worthless hulks at the rate of 375 cars every sixteen hours. Many parts, such as tires, are salvaged in their entirety, other materials are being converted into useful articles, while the steel is remelted in furnaces to do its bit in the manufacture of Ford cars and Ford trucks. The derelics are bought from Ford dealers at a fixed price. There is no restriction as to make, age, or condition, except that all cars must have at least the semblance of tires and a battery. To date more than sixty different makes have walked the plank.

Buying at Home

THE administration's acute farm problem has taken on another complication due to purchase abroad of the army and navy of beef and other food supplies at a time when American farmers are suffering from low prices due to domestic overproduction.

President Hoover has called a special joint board of the Army and Navy to investigate the situation and to consider the possibility of having these two government agencies confine their food purchases to American products.

As a prelude to its deliberations, the charge was made that Army and Navy purchasers are buying yearly 6,500,000 pounds of beef from foreign nations for use in the Philippines, Hawaii, China and Panama. Chief foreign purchases are being made in New Zealand, Australia and the Argentine. All these countries are competitors of American foreign meat trade.

While the Army and Navy are being investigated as to purchases, it may be well to see about other departments and do more of our buying at home and thus aid our home market. Departments are great sticklers in following red tape, regardless of conditions and a survey of every government department may be worth something at this time when every effort is being made to bolster home trading and home markets.

Sees Many Improvements

J. F. SMART, who years ago was county auditor of Crow Wing county and then went southward and settled in the so-called Mobile, Alabama, bay country, is in Brainerd and the county after 16 years' absence.

He has found many changes and improvements. The first thing that impressed him is the wonderful, new courthouse we have. In the old days Mr. Smart was established in the cramped quarters in the old courthouse. The utilitarian, yet simple and noble architecture of the new courthouse very favorably impressed Mr. Smart.

He motored from the gulf to Brainerd and said that in the very near future there would be a cement highway, without a gravel or dirt road break of any kind, stretching clear from the Gulf of Mexico to the city of Brainerd. As the tourist loves to travel over a good highway, any one can see what a stimulus this continuous cement highway will be to tourist travel. The Brainerd Lake Region gets a large percentage of the tourists from the Midwest and Southwest, from states that have no lakes.

Mr. Smart used to live in the Long Lake country of Crow Wing county and was impressed by the strides made in farming of all kinds, poultry raising, dairying, etc.

Three Rules for Summer

THREE positive rules for hygiene for the prevention of a possible hot weather epidemic of poliomyelitis, the dread infantile paralysis, in Minnesota this summer are issued in a bulletin from the Minnesota State Medical Association.

They are:

- Keep the children away from all sick people.
- Watch your milk and food supply.
- Wash your hands thoroughly and often and see that the children wash theirs also.

"These are established health rules that apply in the protection from any infectious disease," the bulletin says. "They specifically and powerfully apply in the case of poliomyelitis.

"Protection from poliomyelitis is complicated by the fact that there are many unrecognized, undiagnosed cases that will never develop paralysis," the bulletin says.

"These cases suffer only the fever and general illness of the first few days but they are capable of spreading infection and, as they are not confined to bed, they are far more likely to do so.

"Another complicating circumstance lies in the fact that there are demonstrable polio carriers just as there are diphtheria carriers. The infecting agent of the disease is present in the nose and throat discharges and in the bowel contents of carriers as well as patients. It is spread by these avenues to persons who never actually become ill with the disease.

"These perfectly healthy persons, nurses or parents who have been in contact with it move about the community freely an unrecognized menace and for an indefinite length of time.

"The germ is present in the patient himself, long after the acute fever stage is past. It has been discovered on the crutches of convalescents and it is likely to cling to anything he handles."

Where the Old Cars Go

FOR many years people have been worried as to what to do with the accumulation of old and derelict cars, notably of the flivver variety. In some cities they have been stacked up in unsightly heaps, a problem for the community which desires to keep the surroundings of a city in perfect shape.

Some persons have thought that collections of the abandoned cars be dumped in rivers or oceans. Some have burned vast heaps of the old cars.

Others have said that as the manufacturer was responsible for putting them in the transportation field, he should devise ways and means of painlessly disposing of the cars when their days of usefulness are over.

And now comes Henry Ford himself with a plan. Following the systematic wrecking of more than 1,800 antiquated motor cars, the Ford Motor Company today announced that the salvaging of materials obtained in this manner is practical and that it is now increasing its facilities for continuing the work on a more extensive scale.

At the present time a force of 120 men at the Rouge Plant, Dearborn, dismantles these apparently worthless hulks at the rate of 375 cars every sixteen hours. Many parts, such as tires, are salvaged in their entirety, other materials are being converted into useful articles, while the steel is remelted in furnaces to do its bit in the manufacture of Ford cars and Ford trucks. The derelics are bought from Ford dealers at a fixed price. There is no restriction as to make, age, or condition, except that all cars must have at least the semblance of tires and a battery. To date more than sixty different makes have walked the plank.

Buying at Home

THE administration's acute farm problem has taken on another complication due to purchase abroad of the army and navy of beef and other food supplies at a time when American farmers are suffering from low prices due to domestic overproduction.

President Hoover has called a special joint board of the Army and Navy to investigate the situation and to consider the possibility of having these two government agencies confine their food purchases to American products.

As a prelude to its deliberations, the charge was made that Army and Navy purchasers are buying yearly 6,500,000 pounds of beef from foreign nations for use in the Philippines, Hawaii, China and Panama. Chief foreign purchases are being made in New Zealand, Australia and the Argentine. All these countries are competitors of American foreign meat trade.

While the Army and Navy are being investigated as to purchases, it may be well to see about other departments and do more of our buying at home and thus aid our home market. Departments are great sticklers in following red tape, regardless of conditions and a survey of every government department may be worth something at this time when every effort is being made to bolster home trading and home markets.

Sees Many Improvements

J. F. SMART, who years ago was county auditor of Crow Wing county and then went southward and settled in the so-called Mobile, Alabama, bay country, is in Brainerd and the county after 16 years' absence.

He has found many changes and improvements. The first thing that impressed him is the wonderful, new courthouse we have. In the old days Mr. Smart was established in the cramped quarters in the old courthouse. The utilitarian, yet simple and noble architecture of the new courthouse very favorably impressed Mr. Smart.

He motored from the gulf to Brainerd and said that in the very near future there would be a cement highway, without a gravel or dirt road break of any kind, stretching clear from the Gulf of Mexico to the city of Brainerd. As the tourist loves to travel over a good highway, any one can see what a stimulus this continuous cement highway will be to tourist travel. The Brainerd Lake Region gets a large percentage of the tourists from the Midwest and Southwest, from states that have no lakes.

Mr. Smart used to live in the Long Lake country of Crow Wing county and was impressed by the strides made in farming of all kinds, poultry raising, dairying, etc.

PENNEYS WIN TITLE AS FOSTER PITCHES NO HIT GAME

ARO MAKES GREAT CATCH TO ROB BYES OF SCORING CHANCE

ERICSSON, BYE PITCHER, ALLOWS 11 HITS BUT IS ACCORDED POOR SUPPORT

NEW CHAMPIONS WILL PLAY CAMP LINCOLN COLLEGE STARS THURSDAY

Hurling the first no hit-no run game of the season, "Bennie" Foster, Penney mound ace, pitched the J. C. Penney diamond ball team to the city championship by defeating the John M. Bye Clothing Company team in the final game of the play-off series by a score of 9-0 at Koering field last evening.

Only four Bye men reached base, all via the route of bases on balls. Foster was credited with 17 strikeouts. Foster was aided in his remarkable record by great support from the Penney team. Aro, Penney left fielder, robbed Byes of a home run that would have marred Foster's no hit-no run record when he made a spectacular running catch of Paine's long fly in the third inning. The ball was hit to deep left field and Aro, running back at full speed was just able to make a sensational catch of it over his shoulder.

The Penney team played errorless ball. Ericsson, who pitched for Byes, allowed 11 hits. He was credited with two strikeouts and walked one man. His support was erratic, Byes being charged with seven errors, which were largely responsible for most of the runs.

The Penney team, which had gone through the season with only three defeats, only one of which was suffered at the hands of the league competition, appeared confident of victory. The team has been in the play-off series for several years but this was the first time in which they succeeded in carrying off the honors.

O'DOUL AND SIMMONS HIGH IN HITTING HONORS

Byes gave up their title after a two-year reign, having held the championship both in 1928 and 1929.

After the game the new champions were entertained at a smoker at the home of Louis Rofidal. Refreshments for the victors were furnished by Harold Meschke.

The silver loving cup to be awarded to the champions, which has been on display at the Dispatch office for the past week, was presented to the Penney team this morning.

The Penney team will not disband at once. It has a game scheduled with the Camp Lincoln College Stars to be played next Thursday evening at Camp Lincoln on Hubert Lake. A return game will be played here later. The team may also play some exhibition games with leading diamond ball teams from the Twin Cities.

The score by innings:
Penneys 121 400 1-9 11 0
Byes 000 000 0-0 0 7

Batteries—Penneys: Foster and Rofidal; Byes: Ericsson and Flaata.

Officials—Wise and Nutting.

National League team batting averages were: Philadelphia, .327; New York, .319; Brooklyn, .312; St. Louis, .312; Chicago, .307; Pittsburgh, .300; Cincinnati, .288; Boston, .281.

"Lefty" Grove, Athletics' fast ball ace, showed the way for American League pitchers with 12 victories and 3 defeats for a percentage of .800 and Bob Osborn, Cubs' rookie, tops the National circuit with 6 victories and 1 defeat for an .857 average.

Ted Lyons, White Sox, and Wesley Ferrell, Indians, led both leagues in victories with 13 each, but each was charged with 9 defeats for an average of .591. Ray Kremer of the Pirates scored the most victories in the National League with 12 wins and 6 defeats for a .667 percentage.

Weissmuller's Successors?

By HARDIN BURNLEY

GEORGE KOJAC—BRILLIANT RUTGERS SWIMMING STAR AND ONE OF THE GREATEST SWIMMERS IN THE WORLD!

RAY RUDDY—(Below), YOUNG COLUMBIA AQUATIC SENSATION, WHO LOOKS LIKE A FUTURE WEISSMULLER.

At baseball, sluggers try to out-homer Ruth; most would-be money-makers in the ring strive to sock like Dempsey; and on the golf links, every ardent ambitious player dreams of shooting like Bobby Jones or (if that be an unattainable ideal) acquiring the mechanical finesse of Horton Smith. When it comes to swimming, Johnny Weissmuller is the Ruth, Dempsey and Jones of amphibians rolled into one! He holds most of the world's records from one to 500 yards. For more than five years, he generally has been acclaimed the world's best all-around swimmer—perhaps the greatest of all time in that line, and he is that still, now that he's turned professional.

Weissmuller has worn his laurels so long that many are asking which of his many rivals or which of the rising stars will succeed him as the paragon of the pools and other water courses.

George Kojac, back-stroke genius, is extraordinary indeed in his favored method of water locomotion. In the back-stroke events, the boy is as supreme as Weissmuller in free style swimming. This collegiate wonder is also a great all-around swimmer and, with youth on his side, he may yet equal or excel some, or all, of Weissmuller's marvelous marks.

Even more promising, in the opinion of many critics, is young Ray Ruddy, who started cutting records when a small school boy a few years ago, who is developing rapidly, and who is already rated as one of the most formidable of swimmers though still a comparative "kid." He and Kojac are expected to wage the equivalent of a duel for the honor of being acclaimed the successor to Weissmuller's amateur glories.

Of course, in considering the swimmers, one should note that since turning pro, Weissmuller has clipped several of his records and is still the undisputed monarch of that sport. However, Kojac and Ruddy (there are others, too) radiate youth, skill and ambition. One of them is almost sure to succeed Sir John a few years hence.

U. S. Tennis Hopes High

By HARDIN BURNLEY

JOHNNY VAN RYN—HIS CHANCE FOR GLORY LIES IN DOUBLES PLAY!

WITH the interzone final for the Davis Cup starting today, United States' hopes are far higher than they were when the American team went overseas. Then France seemingly was entrenched as the world's tennis rulers. Late in June Wilmer Allison loomed as big as his native Texas, when he beat the remarkable Henri Cochet in straight sets at Wimbledon, a feat which upset all calculations. When the French ace lost it seemed to doom his country's chances of retaining the Davis Cup, the final play for which will take place at Auteuil July 25-27.

The other Americans did very well on the whole at Wimbledon. Among those who flashed splendidly were Van Ryn, Lott, and Allison. Van Ryn and Allison constitute a pair of great doubles teams. Their fame for the present is founded chiefly on such fore, our "young generation" is coming to its own on the courts.

According to Francis T. Hunter, for several seasons Tilden's sidekick, Lott may become the eventual successor to "Big Bill." That is a fine tribute indeed coming from the man whom Lott displaced on our 1929 Davis Cup team.

As to Van Ryn, last year he and Allison defeated Cochet and Borotra in the doubles, and both Princeton Johnny and "The Texas Kid" apparently are in better form this season.

Unless some weird upsets occur in the interzone matches during this and the next two days, Uncle Sam will prevail, and have the Davis Cup all but in his grip. With Van Ryn and Allison to the fore, our "young generation" is coming to its own on the courts.

Of course, Bill Tilden is still the most potentially dramatic figure in world tennis, and Allison's amazing Cochet triumph glitters in dazzling style. Johnny Doeg, of Santa Monica, Cal., looks better than ever. But insiders rate none of their Davis Cup chances as brighter than those of Lott and Van Ryn.

RUPP IS NEW RULER

Matter of Helping Unfortunate and Crippled Children Stressed at Convention

Dr. and Mrs. A. K. Cohen returned Thursday from a fifteen day trip to the east. Dr. Cohen was chosen as the Brainerd delegate to attend the Elks convention at Atlantic City. The convention was for five days, and was very interesting and enthusiastic. Lawrence P. Rupp of Altoona, Pa., was elected as grand exalted ruler, and Seattle, Wash., was chosen as the 1931 meeting place of the grand lodge. The matter of helping the unfortunate and crippled of the land was particularly stressed at the convention, said Dr. Cohen. Lodges all over the country are going into this work stronger than ever before, and more money is being appropriated to this humanitarian work.

As a souvenir of his visit to New York City, Dr. Cohen brought back the skeleton of a sea horse, which is now on display in one of the Dispatch windows. The sea horse is said to be the only fish where the male rears the young. Their long curved tail is used for grabbing objects, and when eating, they hold their food with the tail. The fins used for swimming are along the back.

Enroute east Dr. and Mrs. Cohen stopped at Chicago and Detroit for a days' visit, also went to Toronto and Montreal where they visited the Freres Andre Shrine. The original shrine is still standing, and a $5,000,000 building is now being built. Andre, the originator, is still alive, and is 85 years old. "It was a very impressive sight," said Dr. Cohen, "to see those hundreds of crippled and disabled people coming there for help."

At New York City they were met by Lieutenant Donald McKay, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. McKay of Brainerd, who took them around the city. He is with the Coast Guard Service. They visited friends at Washington, D. C., and were present at the senate session last week when Shipstead made his talk on the London naval treaty. They were also taken through the White House, President and Mrs. Hoover having corned beef and cabbage that day.

At Pittsburgh they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Saari, former Brainerd residents. They attended the races at Arlington Park in company with Dr. E. F. Swartout.

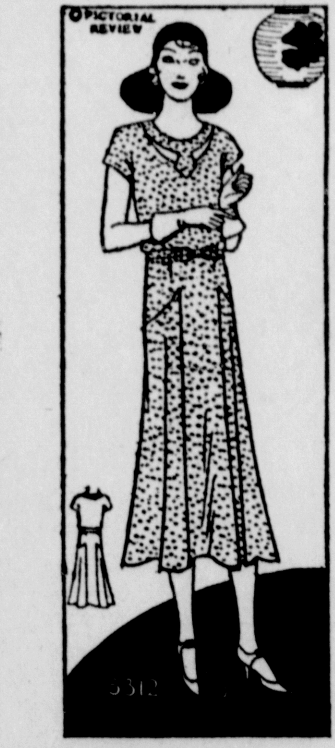

Rogue's Gallery Photos Searched for Willmar Bank Bandits

St. Paul, July 19.—(U.P.)—Rogue's gallery photos from half a dozen midwest cities arrived today to speed efforts toward identifying the Willmar bank raiders.

General W. F. Rhinow, head of the state bureau of criminal apprehension, continued to direct efforts of investigators who are tracing down several tips which have been received in the last few days.

Positive identification has not yet been made of any of the bandits, Rhinow said.

America Behind on Roads

The United States is justly proud of her roads, but a few figures may be surprising. Europe has 638,000 miles of surfaced roads, exclusive of city streets, as against 109,000 in North America, of which 150,000 are in the United States. For every mile of surfaced road in this country there are 184 cars; in Europe, 6.5.—World's Work.

ARLENE HAGBERG LEADS CONTEST

Balloting Continues and Girls Vie With Each Other to Win Title of Miss Brainerd

Arlene Hagberg continued to lead late this afternoon in the Popular Girl Contest conducted by the Daily Dispatch and Publix Theatres. Laura Racine still held second place today but Doris Geist came into third position, displacing Cleo Mayo who came into third place yesterday after a large block of votes had been credited to her.

During the past week the lead has switched from day to day between Arlene Hagberg, Doris Geist and Laura Racine. At the same time several others of the contestants have been coming up into the totals by leaps and bounds and it still looks like anybody's race.

Some time next month the winner of this popularity contest will be named "Miss Brainerd" and along with nineteen other most popular girls from cities in the Northwest will leave Minneapolis on a two weeks' trip to Alaska with all expenses paid.

Hundreds of dollars will be spent to show these girls every courtesy and convenience during this trip that undoubtedly will be remembered by the winners for a lifetime. There is no question that the prize is worth working for.

Balloting at the theatre continues spiritedly and practically all of the contestants are soliciting subscriptions to the Daily Dispatch for which they will get both a commission and votes that will go a long way in winning the contest.

ON REARING CHILDREN FROM CRIB TO COLLEGE

Compiled by the Editors of THE PARENTS' MAGAZINE

America cannot improve by increasing laws, or improving laws, or even by improving judicial procedure. The great hope lies in impressing upon young people at an early age a sense of personal accountability and responsibility. The whole scheme of scouting has been worked out to develop this sense, which we call character building. We endeavor through the scout program to develop a four-wheel-brake system: physical fitness; general education; vocational guidance; character.

Probably some one needs to work out for traveling Americans some scientific adjustments between our, for the most part excellent, hygienic habits and the inevitable limitations of foreign countries. If the young person would go abroad with the intention of keeping to moderately early bedtime hours, avoiding all spirituous liquors, finding a reasonable combination of vitamins and calories in any national menu and avoiding such food as can be picked up at the often very poor little places purporting to serve American food, he could afford to adjust himself on a lot of other matters.

A variation from type is an ironing machine combined with an electric washer, the ironing roll being devised so that it can be used interchangeably with the power wringer, both being operated by the motor of the washing machine. This arrangement brings the price of the combination machine but a little above that of washing machine alone, thus making a very practical form of laundry equipment.

What shall we do if the baby who has been eating well suddenly refuses food, and what shall we do if the baby does not willingly eat enough to make an average gain in weight? Probably more children's appetites are spoiled by mismanagement of this first attack of loss of appetite than by any other one factor. Mismanagement is due to lack of knowledge or appreciation of a very simple physiologic fact. Poor appetite always accompanies the minor ailments of childhood. When a child first begins to cut down on his food, take the hint and beat him to it, because in nine cases out of ten this poor appetite is a symptom of oncoming illness. If on the other hand an attempt is made to urge or force his usual diet upon him he will receive his first unpleasant reaction to food and will learn something of how important you consider the matter.

A very satisfactory color scheme for the boy's room may be worked out in wood tones with accents of parchment color and red, or the wood tones may vary from yellow or orange as an accent color to dark brown in the rug. Green would also add interest to this latter scheme. Remember in furnishing your son's room that boys will probably want plenty of room for a scuffle with no accessories to topple over if they shake things up a bit. The room may be artistic but it should be masculine and uncluttered.

Junkets may be had in a variety of delightful flavors. Dishes made from them have much milk. They are especially delicious combined with fruit whips. And have you tried freezing your cornstarch pudding in the refrigerator tray?

THE MODERN PROUD FATHER

Cobbler Welcomes Guest in Homes of Colonists

In the early days of the American colonies and for some years after the Revolution it was the custom for cordwainers, or traveling cobblers, to go from house to house for many miles repairing the old boots and shoes of the family or making new ones. Sometimes the cobbler would remain at one house for two or three weeks, receiving free board and lodging while employed on the footgear of master, mistress and children.

He carried with him not only his kit of tools but also different kinds of leather. The men usually wore heavy cowhide boots, well greased with mutton tallow to keep out the wet, as rubbers were then unknown. The children wore calfskin and the young women of the family morocco or kid, sometimes red or blue—and tied with silk tassels. The cordwainer set up his bench in a corner of the kitchen, and while he hammered away or stitched industriously at his work regaled his customers with the news he had gathered in his travels. He was a welcome guest in the absence of newspapers.

Enoch Crosby, the famous Revolutionary spy, exploited by Cooper in a novel, was a cordwainer and gained much valuable information for General Washington while pursuing his trade among the Westchester farms. —New York Times Magazine.

DAIRY FACTS

SOY BEANS MAKE GOOD DAIRY FEED

They Are Very High in Digestible Nutrients.

Soy beans make a very excellent high protein concentrate for dairy cattle. Since they carry 16 per cent of fat, they are also very high in total digestible nutrients. Investigations at the Purdue station show that soy beans are fully as valuable in the dairy ration as linseed oil meal.

Some experiments have shown that soy beans may not be palatable when fed over a long period of time. However, investigators at the Iowa station fed as high as four pounds per day to dairy cattle over a period of 100 days, and the cattle still relished them. These investigators also found that soy beans in these amounts were not unduly laxative.

Soy beans should be ground or cracked before feeding. It is best to grind only sufficient beans for immediate use. If ground beans are left stored for any considerable time, they will become rancid.

If difficulty is experienced in grinding beans, this may be obviated by mixing them first with corn or oats. The amount of cracked soy beans or soy-bean meal to use with corn and oats will depend upon the kind of dry roughage available. If you have a good quality of alfalfa hay, a ration composed of 300 pounds of corn and cob meal; 200 pounds of ground oats; 100 pounds of wheat bran and 150 pounds of soy beans will make it a very desirable ration. If clover hay is available, 200 pounds of soy beans may be used to advantage in this mixture. If such poor quality roughage, such as timothy hay or corn stover is used exclusively, it will probably be well to use 300 pounds of soy beans and 100 pounds of cotton seed meal along with the amounts of corn, oats and bran suggested above.

Soy beans are a valuable fertilizer when plowed under. However, if a crop of hay is taken off first, very little if any nitrogen is added to the soil by this crop.

Stop Feeding Grain to Cows While on Pasture

Most dairymen, especially farmers who keep a few cows for the steady cash income which they provide, stop feeding grain when the pasture season opens. Sometimes that is the right thing to do, but more often it is not. Those who have an abundance of pasture and who maintain cows of medium production can probably get just as economical returns without grain as with grain, but such conditions do not ordinarily prevail. As a rule the average pasture is cropped rather closely so that the cows do not get a full feed without grain. Then again high producing cows, that is cows in the 300-pound butter fat class, cannot obtain enough feed from grass, no matter how good the pasture may be, to produce the maximum amount of milk and butter fat of which they are capable.

Holstein Testing Rules Are Being Standardized

A new rule to standardize the question of feeding Holstein cows on semi-official long-time test has been adopted by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. It is that:

"During any official test period in connection with a semi-official long-time test, the milking shall be done by the regular milker and there shall be no change in the content of the ration or in the quantity fed except such as may be required by the health of the cow. In case any change is necessary, it must be called to the attention of the supervisor and he shall explain it fully in his report of the test."

Dairy Hints

Make sure that growing heifers have plenty of fresh, pure water at all times.

Milk which sours rapidly has a better flavor than that which sours slowly at a low temperature.

Vitamins, so important to life, health and growth of farm animals, are contained in abundance in alfalfa hay.

Every dairyman should know his best cows and keep only the calves from these for his future herd. Here is where the dairy improvement association becomes a helpful friend.

Dairy products are increasing rapidly throughout the country in our diet. But we are demanding good products.

The cream separator on the ordinary dairy farm is sometimes a sneak thief unless it is given attention continuously throughout the year.

Regularity of milking and feeding methods, kindness, patience and close observation of one's cows are factors that influence the persistency of the average dairy herd.

A variation from type is an ironing machine combined with an electric washer, the ironing roll being devised so that it can be used interchangeably with the power wringer, both being operated by the motor of the washing machine. This arrangement brings the price of the combination machine but a little above that of washing machine alone, thus making a very practical form of laundry equipment.

What shall we do if the baby who has been eating well suddenly refuses food, and what shall we do if the baby does not willingly eat enough to make an average gain in weight? Probably more children's appetites are spoiled by mismanagement of this first attack of loss of appetite than by any other one factor. Mismanagement is due to lack of knowledge or appreciation of a very simple physiologic fact. Poor appetite always accompanies the minor ailments of childhood. When a child first begins to cut down on his food, take the hint and beat him to it, because in nine cases out of ten this poor appetite is a symptom of oncoming illness. If on the other hand an attempt is made to urge or force his usual diet upon him he will receive his first unpleasant reaction to food and will learn something of how important you consider the matter.

A very satisfactory color scheme for the boy's room may be worked out in wood tones with accents of parchment color and red, or the wood tones may vary from yellow or orange as an accent color to dark brown in the rug. Green would also add interest to this latter scheme. Remember in furnishing your son's room that boys will probably want plenty of room for a scuffle with no accessories to topple over if they shake things up a bit. The room may be artistic but it should be masculine and uncluttered.

Junkets may be had in a variety of delightful flavors. Dishes made from them have much milk. They are especially delicious combined with fruit whips. And have you tried freezing your cornstarch pudding in the refrigerator tray?

THE MODERN PROUD FATHER

Cobbler Welcome Guest in Homes of Colonists

In the early days of the American colonies and for some years after the Revolution it was the custom for cordwainers, or traveling cobblers, to go from house to house for many miles repairing the old boots and shoes of the family or making new ones. Sometimes the cobbler would remain at one house for two or three weeks, receiving free board and lodging while employed on the footgear of master, mistress and children.

He carried with him not only his kit of tools but also different kinds of leather. The men usually wore heavy cowhide boots, well greased with mutton tallow to keep out the wet, as rubbers were then unknown. The children wore calfskin and the young women of the family morocco or kid, sometimes red or blue—and tied with silk tassels. The cordwainer set up his bench in a corner of the kitchen, and while he hammered away or stitched industriously at his work regaled his customers with the news he had gathered in his travels. He was a welcome guest in the absence of newspapers.

Enoch Crosby, the famous Revolutionary spy, exploited by Cooper in a novel, was a cordwainer and gained much valuable information for General Washington while pursuing his trade among the Westchester farms.—New York Times Magazine.

DAIRY FACTS

SOY BEANS MAKE GOOD DAIRY FEED

They Are Very High in Digestible Nutrients.

Soy beans make a very excellent high protein concentrate for dairy cattle. Since they carry 16 per cent of fat they are also very high in total digestible nutrients. Investigations at the Purdue station show that soy beans are fully as valuable in the dairy ration as linseed oil meal.

Some experiments have shown that soy beans may not be palatable when fed over a long period of time. However, investigators at the Iowa station fed as high as four pounds per day to dairy cattle over a period of 100 days, and the cattle still relished them. These investigators also found that soy beans in these amounts were not unduly laxative.

Soy beans should be ground or cracked before feeding. It is best to grind only sufficient beans for immediate use. If ground beans are left stored for any considerable time, they will become rancid.

If difficulty is experienced in grinding beans, this may be obviated by mixing them first with corn or oats. The amount of cracked soy beans or soy-bean meal to use with corn and oats will depend upon the kind of dry roughage available. If you have a good quality of alfalfa hay, a ration composed of 300 pounds of corn and cob meal; 200 pounds of ground oats; 100 pounds of wheat bran and 150 pounds of soy beans will make it a very desirable ration. If clover hay is available, 200 pounds of soy beans may be used to advantage in this mixture. If such poor quality roughage, such as timothy hay or corn stover is used exclusively, it will probably be well to use 300 pounds of soy beans and 100 pounds of cotton seed meal along with the amounts of corn, oats and bran suggested above.

Soy beans are a valuable fertilizer when plowed under. However, if a crop of hay is taken off first, very little if any nitrogen is added to the soil by this crop.

Stop Feeding Grain to Cows While on Pasture

Most dairymen, especially farmers who keep a few cows for the steady cash income which they provide, stop feeding grain when the pasture season opens. Sometimes that is the right thing to do, but more often it is not. Those who have an abundance of pasture and who maintain cows of medium production can probably get just as economical returns without grain as with grain, but such conditions do not ordinarily prevail. As a rule the average pasture is cropped rather closely so that the cows do not get a full feed without grain. Then again high producing cows, that is cows in the 300-pound butter fat class, cannot obtain enough feed from grass, no matter how good the pasture may be, to produce the maximum amount of milk and butter fat of which they are capable.

Holstein Testing Rules Are Being Standardized

A new rule to standardize the question of feeding Holstein cows on semi-official long-time test has been adopted by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. It is that:

"During any official test period in connection with a semi-official long-time test, the milking shall be done by the regular milker and there shall be no change in the content of the ration or in the quantity fed except such as may be required by the health of the cow. In case any change is necessary, it must be called to the attention of the supervisor and he shall explain it fully in his report of the test."

Dairy Hints

Make sure that growing heifers have plenty of fresh, pure water at all times.

Milk which sours rapidly has a better flavor than that which sours slowly at a low temperature.

Vitamins, so important to life, health and growth of farm animals, are contained in abundance in alfalfa hay.

Every dairyman should know his best cows and keep only the calves from these for his future herd. Here is where the dairy improvement association becomes a helpful friend.

Dairy products are increasing rapidly throughout the country in our diet. But we are demanding good products.

The cream separator on the ordinary dairy farm is sometimes a sneak thief unless it is given attention continuously throughout the year.

Regularity of milking and feeding methods, kindness, patience and close observation of one's cows are factors that influence the persistency of the average dairy herd.

BOYS FIND BODY OF MISSING FARM HAND

Body of Iver Santorp Found Late Yesterday in Tall Grass Near Home at Garrison

60 BOYS JOIN SEARCH

Had Been Dead for Some Time, Heart Disease Given as Probable Cause of Death

The body of Iver Santorp, 55, a farm hand living near Garrison, was found late yesterday afternoon by a group of boys from Smith's camp at Wealthwood in Aitkin county. Santorp disappeared Wednesday evening about 5 o'clock after telling his employer, Frank O. Carlson, that he was going after the cows. The cows were pasturing in a heavily wooded region and it was feared that he had become lost and had strayed away and had perhaps become exhausted.

Sixty boys from Smith's camp, hearing that a man was missing, came the ten miles from their camp to join in the search. The boys were divided into groups, under leaders, and started to scour the surrounding country along with a number of neighbors that had already started as a searching party.

The body was found by a small boy, who with others was looking in some low rough meadowland near the home. The cows had come back from this direction Wednesday evening without Santorp and gave the searchers a clue as to where Santorp might be. The body was lying in grass three or four feet high which was growing so close together that it was almost impossible to see into it.

The boy that found the body stumbled onto it. The sight of the dead man frightened him and he called the others. It is thought that Santorp must have died shortly after he left the farmhouse Wednesday night for he had been dead for some time when the body was located.

Santorp had complained of the hot weather Wednesday and it is thought that he became overheated walking across the rough meadowland which may have led to a heart attack.

Santorp has no known relatives here and the body was brought to the Whitney undertaking parlors here. He used to live in Moorhead and belonged to the Redmen's lodge there. Authorities here are waiting to hear from the lodge at Moorhead before final funeral arrangements will be made.

Sheriff Claus A. Theoria was notified of the man's disappearance here early yesterday afternoon. He had a description of the missing man broadcast over the radio and immediately joined the searching party at Garrison.

No coroner's inquest was deemed necessary.

SENTENCED TWICE IN 3-DAY PERIOD

Earl Mathison Began 60 Day Sentence This Morning on Liquor Transportation Charge

Earl Mathison plead guilty in municipal court before Judge J. H. Warner this morning to the charge of transporting liquor and was sentenced to pay a fine of $75 or to spend 60 days in the city jail. Mathison indicated that he would rather serve out the sentence and began his term at once.

Mathison was arrested at Lum Park last evening by Officer Erick Graf with two pints of liquor in his possession. Judge Warner ruled that the seized liquor be destroyed by the chief of police.

This is the second time in three days that Mathison has appeared before Judge Warner. Mathison was sentenced to pay a fine of $75 or to spend 60 days in the city jail on Thursday morning by the judge after the court had found him guilty of the charge of selling intoxicating liquor. Mathison has appealed the case to district court through his attorney, C. A. Ryan of the law firm of Ryan and Ryan.

EXPERIMENT WITH MOIST IRON ORE

Ore Being Put Through at Sintering Plant of Evergreen Mining Company

Experiments that may have very far reaching consequences are being conducted at the sintering plant of the Evergreen Mining Company. A five-thousand ton lot of manganiferous ore from the Sagamore mine is being put through the plant. The ore from the Sagamore, which is a very moist ore, has heretofore been beneficiated at the drying plant operated at the mine. If it responds to sintering, this form of beneficiation may replace the drying process.

The experiments are being conducted by A. J. Gleason, ore reclamation and beneficiation expert of the Pickands, Mather Company, who is here from Hibbing, assisted by F. A. Kelley and E. J. Fearing of the Crosby staff of that company.

LUKENS STORE ROBBED

Manager of Gamble Store Finds Both Front and Back Doors of Building Open

The Gamble store on Front street was entered again last night, the third time since the store was robbed of more than $100 over a month ago. The Luken Variety store on Front street has also been entered twice in the last ten days.

A checkup at the Gamble store this morning showed that no money had been taken but it was impossible to check all of the merchandise and a number of small articles may be missing.

The entrance of the thieves was discovered about 7:30 o'clock this morning when a customer called at the home of Al Hansen, Gamble manager, in the Ohio block. The customer wanted to know where everybody was, saying that he had been in the store for the last ten minutes waiting to make a purchase and no clerks seemed to be there. Hansen came down to the store and found both the front and the back doors to the building unlocked.

This is the third time that the Gamble men have found their doors unlocked since they were robbed of over $100 early in June. Until last night the thieves have always made their visits on Thursday nights.

After the first robbery, more than a month ago, Mr. Hansen thought that someone might possibly have had a key to the lock on the front door so he had a new lock put on the door. It obviously has had no effect on the visitors and Hansen is now of the opinion that the thieves must hide in the store, possibly the basement, and wait for the store to close in the evenings.

The Luken Variety store on Front street has also been entered twice in the last ten days. At the first trip the robbers made their entrance through a door to the basement and forced a trap door to the main floor. About $2 in change was taken from one cash register, the other being untouched.

Mr. Luken made no report of the robbery, thinking that the thieves might try it again the next night if there was no publicity. He kept watch himself the next night until 3 o'clock in the morning hoping to catch the robbers, but the visitors did not appear that night. About five nights later the basement was entered again through the back door. In the meantime Mr. Luken had reinforced the door to the main floor and the burglars were thwarted.

"WHERE'S EMILY?"

by CAROLYN WELLS

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

EMILY DUANE and her friend, Pauline Pennington, disappear on Emily's wedding rehearsal day. Emily had gone to visit the hospital, but never arrived there. After leaving the Duane home, Pauline also vanishes. Later, Pauline's body is found in the ravine, and, close by, Emily's scarf. Emily's aunt fears Emily will be accused of murder. An inquest is held.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXII.

"THEN, would you say there had been another person present at the breaking and tangling of those vines?"

Now Murdock was far from shrewd, but he began to see the drift of these questions, and, like King Agag, he walked delicately.

"No, sir, I wouldn't go so far as to say that. It might easily have been done by one person thrashing around like."

"I see." After Murdock came McGuire, with his statement of finding the fur scarf at the place where the body had lain, and of bringing it up when he climbed the steep side of the ravine.

"It was just at the place where you found the lady?"

"Yes, sir."

"Would you say it had been under the body?"

"That I can't say, sir. It might have been or it might not have been when we took her up."

"I see. The terrible finality of Winston's declaration of his powers of vision, or some other influence, seemed to disturb greatly the climber, McGuire, for he trembled and bit his lips and clenched his hands and looked generally upset."

"What's the matter, man?" said the coroner, not unkindly. Then, with a flash of divination, he said: "Did you find anything else?"

"No, no, sir."

"You didn't return Winston calmly. 'What was it?'"

"I didn't."

"Don't lie, my boy, or you'll be in deep trouble. What else did you find?"

Whoever expected or wanted a thrill from the morning's proceedings, received it now.

"This, sir." The trembling fingers of Billy McGuire slipped into his pocket and he drew forth a glittering object which he handed over to his interlocutor.

Winston at once held it up in full view of the audience.

It was a short chain of six diamonds, not very large, but pure, flawless stones.

Now to Robert Winston this was a surprise, a startling occurrence and of great interest, but it told him nothing further.

To those who knew Emily Duane and knew of Rodney's gift to her, it was a thunderbolt.

Nell put her hands across her mouth to keep from screaming. Betty gripped the sides of her chair to keep from fainting. And Aunt Judy Bell sat immovable as a statue, showing no emotion save for the fact that all the lustre had suddenly left her great black eyes.

Pete Gibby felt as if someone had slipped a chunk of ice down his back, and Lamb was so full of devout thankfulness that Rod was not present that he had room in his soul for nothing else.

Jim Pennington sat gazing at the thing with a numb, dumb horror.

He had braced himself to stand the trying ordeal he was going through and was quite ready, when the time came, to tell of his wife's doings the day before.

But the sight of those diamonds sent a fresh shock through his shattered nerves, and through his weary brain there raced one theory after another as to what it might all come to mean.

He knew more than the rest of Emily's squabbles with Polly, squabbles that sometimes developed into real quarrels.

With Polly's ultra-emotional nature and Emily's spitefire ways, there was often friction. Why the girls remained friends at all, he could never quite see. But between fights they were amiable, chummy and often affectionate.

Pennington knew all—or nearly all—about the Atlantic City escapades, and had long ago forgiven his wife for those.

But these diamonds, now. How would they be interpreted? He never had admired Emily greatly—she was too animated, too coltish. To him she was merely one of Polly's friends. But these diamonds! He wondered.

Winston was speaking. "Where did you find these, McGuire?"

His calm tones steadied the lad, and he replied in a low tone: "Just where I found the fur piece, sir."

"They were together?"

"Maybe a couple feet apart."

"Why didn't you turn them in before this?"

"I—I wanted to keep 'em, sir."

"Steal them?"

"Yes, sir."

"I see." To the listeners it seemed that Winston's calm quiet hypnotized the witness into simple statements of truth.

"And why didn't you stick to your denial just now and keep your booty?"

"Because," the voice sank to a whisper, "because the Devil gets them as robs the dead."

"As a matter of fact," said Winston, coolly, "I made you shell out. You would have kept them fast enough, Devil and all, if I hadn't forced your hand."

"No, sir," said McGuire, earnestly, "no, sir. I dreamt last night, and after that I—I couldn't keep 'em, sir."

"Well, never mind your dream. Now have you any more treasure-trove?"

"What, sir?"

"Did you find anything else in the ravine?"

"No, sir," and the words rang out with a finality equal to Winston's own.

"Did these diamonds belong to your wife, Mr. Pennington?"

"No," was the answer. "Do you know to whom they do belong?"

"I don't know, sir."

"I am not sure that I do."

"Can anyone present identify these jewels?"

There was a pause, and then, deeming it his duty, Burton Lamb said:

"I can. They are a part of a necklace belonging to Miss Emily Duane. I mean, they look like that. I cannot say for certain, of course."

"Miss Duane possesses a necklace of similar gems?"

"Yes," Lamb almost wished he had kept silent.

"Is Miss Duane's necklace still intact?"

"That I do not know," returned the perturbed Lamb.

"Does anyone present know?"

Apparently nobody did, for there was no response.

Winston began to feel that a coroner's lot is not a happy one. Then his common sense came to his aid, and he bethought himself of a way out.

"This inquiry is not in regard to or in investigation of Miss Duane's disappearance," he said. "We are merely eliciting such facts as may be obtainable in the case of Mrs. Pennington's death. Mr. Pennington, will you detail the proceedings of your wife and yourself yesterday afternoon? Please tell the story in your own words."

So Jim Pennington told again the tale of their going to Emily's tea, which was given for the purpose of letting her intimate friends see her wedding gifts before the day of the ceremony.

He told of their departure, after saying good-bye to Emily, who made no mention to them of her intent to go out on any errand.

"Therefore," said Winston, "which left the house first, Miss Duane or you and your wife?"

"I've no idea; after we said good-bye, Miss Duane turned away, and after a word or two with Mrs. Bell we came away."

"What time was this?"

"It is always hard to say precisely. I should judge it was almost exactly five, but nearer than that I don't know. I left Mrs. Pennington for a few minutes to go over to Wallace's for some cigarettes, and she said she would wait for me on the bridge. She often does that, as she hates going in crowded shops."

"When I came back, she was not in sight, so I went on home, thinking to find her already there. But she wasn't. That's all I know."

"Mr. Pennington," and, whether suggestively or not, the coroner dangled the diamonds from his fingers, "have you any theory as to how your wife came by her death?"

"It isn't a question of theory, but it is my belief, founded on certain knowledge, that she purposely and knowingly committed suicide."

"What is your certain knowledge?"

"Her continued declarations that she would do so, and the fact that she had made some unsuccessful attempts."

"What were these attempts?"

"One was only a few months ago. Mrs. Pennington chanced to read a long elaborate news story of women who chose to end their lives by going to the garage, getting into a motor, starting the engine, and calmly sitting there until overcome by the fumes of carbon monoxide. It was a terrible story and had a great effect on her. She left her room softly one night, crept out of the house and down to the garage, and getting into the car, started the motor. Had not the chauffeur chanced to hear the motor running, she must have been killed very soon. As it was, a pulmonologist saved her life."

The speaker looked at Doctor Eaton, who gravely nodded his head, well remembering the occasion.

"I trust it will not be necessary for me to detail any further attempts at suicide made by Mrs. Pennington, but there have been such. She was not entirely responsible, for a great grief in her life left her in a nervous state that resulted in occasional attacks of nervous excitement that amounted to hysteria and at times almost dementia. I am telling you this to explain why I feel certain that Mrs. Pennington threw herself over the ravine bridge of her own accord, though perhaps she was not quite rational at the moment."

Winston knew a little about the Penningtons' history, but not so much as this, and he was profoundly shocked.

He excused the witness, and sat for a few moments without speaking.

Pete Gibby, meaning no irreverence, thought to himself that the scene reminded him of a passage in the Apocalypse, a favorite book of his.

"And when he had opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven about the space of half an hour."

But he couldn't tell this to anybody, for so few knew the Scriptures, save, perhaps, the Reverend Garner, and he didn't care to speak to him about it.

Apparently nobody did, for there was no response.

Winston began to feel that a corner's lot is not a happy one.

Then his common sense came to his aid, and he bethought himself of a way out.

"This inquiry is not in regard to or in investigation of Miss Duane's disappearance," he said. "We are merely eliciting such facts as may be obtainable in the case of Mrs. Pennington's death. Mr. Pennington, will you detail the proceedings of your wife and yourself yesterday afternoon? Please tell the story in your own words."

So Jim Pennington told again the tale of their going to Emily's tea, which was given for the purpose of letting her intimate friends see her wedding gifts before the day of the ceremony.

He told of their departure, after saying good-bye to Emily, who made no mention to them of her intent to go out on any errand.

"Therefore," said Winston, "which left the house first, Miss Duane or you and your wife?"

"I've no idea; after we said good-bye, Miss Duane turned away, and after a word or two with Mrs. Bell we came away."

"What time was this?"

"It is always hard to say precisely. I should judge it was almost exactly five, but nearer than that I don't know. I left Mrs. Pennington for a few minutes to go over to Wallace's for some cigarettes and she said she would wait for me on the bridge. She often does that, as she hates going in crowded shops."

"When I came back, she was not in sight, so I went on home, thinking to find her already there. But she wasn't. That's all I know."

"Mr. Pennington," and, whether suggestively or not, the corner dangled the diamonds from his fingers, "have you any theory as to how your wife came by her death?"

"It isn't a question of theory, but it is my belief, founded on certain knowledge, that she purposely and knowingly committed suicide."

"What is your certain knowledge?"

"Her continued declarations that she would do so, and the fact that she had made some unsuccessful attempts."

"What were these attempts?"

"One was only a few months ago, Mrs. Pennington chanced to read a long elaborate news story of women who chose to end their lives by going to the garage, getting into a motor, starting the engine, and calmly sitting there until overcome by the fumes of carbon monoxide. It was a terrible story and had a great effect on her. She left her room softly one night, crept out of the house and down to the garage, and getting into the car, started the motor. Had not the chauffeur chanced to hear the motor running, she must have been killed very soon. As it was, a pal motor saved her life."

The speaker looked at Doctor Eaton, who gravely nodded his head, well remembering the occasion.

"I trust it will not be necessary for me to detail any further attempts at suicide made by Mrs. Pennington, but there have been such. She was not entirely responsible, for a great grief in her life left her in a nervous state that resulted in occasional attacks of nervous excitement that amounted to hysteria and at times almost dementia. I am telling you this to explain why I feel certain that Mrs. Pennington threw herself over the ravine bridge of her own accord, though perhaps she was not quite rational at the moment."

Winston knew a little about the Penningtons' history, but not so much as this, and he was profoundly shocked.

He excused the witness, and sat for a few moments without speaking.

Pete Gibby, meaning no irreverence, thought to himself that the scene reminded him of a passage in the Apocalypse, a favorite book of his:

"And when he had opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven about the space of half an hour."

But he couldn't tell this to anybody, for so few knew the Scriptures, save, perhaps, the Reverend Garner, and he didn't care to speak to him about it.

ALL SQUARE

An old negro had been discovered stealing chickens. The owner decided to speak kindly to him.

"You see," he said, "it isn't the loss of the chickens that worries me. You could always have had one if you'd asked for it. What worries me is that an old fellow like you should be so sinful. Whatever will you do on judgment day when those birds are mentioned in evidence against you?"

The old man showed signs of anxiety.

"Is dem chickens gwine to be dar?" he asked.

"Certainly."

"Den ah gwine say to yo, 'Is dese hyah you chickens, sir?' An' yo'll say, 'Yes, an' Ah'll say, 'You take 'em, sah, you take 'em.'—London Tit-Bits.
